※ Samsung Product certified by EnergyStar mark as of today can be found at www.energystar.gov

The US Environmental Protection Agency sponsors the Energy Star program, which encourages manufacturers to make products as energy efficient as possible. Consumers (both public and private) are also asked to purchase products that bear the Energy Star label to promote environmental protection. Energy Star was the world's first mark of its kind and serves as a model for the energy saving labels of other countries.

Most of Samsung electronics' products are Energy Star qualified.
